THE MINOR IN ENGLISH
Planning Worksheet

Name:_____ Student ID:_____

Date:_____ Class standing:_____ Present major:_____

The English minor at U.S.M. requires a group of six upper-level courses that have both range and concentration. English 245, Introduction to Literary Studies, is prerequisite for all upper-division courses. The remaining courses should have a discernable focus in line with your interests and needs. They should also include at least one course prior to 1800 and one after 1800. To begin thinking about the shape of your minor, first read through the English section of the current USM catalog carefully. Then fill out this form as fully as you can before meeting with the Director of English Minor Programs or another English faculty member for advice. (See sample programs sheet.) When you meet with the advisor, the Proposal Form may be made out, which will then be submitted with this worksheet for approval by the Director, who MUST approve any subsequent changes. Of course, you may take more English courses than the six upper-level courses needed for your minor.

---

1. I have taken ENG 100 or 101. Grade:_____

   ENG 120. Grade:_____

2. These are the courses I have taken or plan to take to fulfill the Core requirements in Humanities:

   1._____ 2._____

3. My interests in English studies are these (check one or more):

   □ reading and composition □ creative writing □ British literature
   □ American literature □ modern literature □ other:_____

4. I would like my English minor to help me in these ways:

   _____

   _____

5. The 18-credit minor I am thinking about now includes these courses:

   1. ENG 245:

   2. A required earlier-literature course (before 1800):

      ENG _____ Title:_____

   3. A required later-literature course (after 1800):

      ENG _____ Title:_____

   4. An additional 300 level literature course:

      ENG _____ Title:_____

   5. Six credit hours of electives:

      ENG _____ Title:_____

      ENG _____ Title:_____