

Maine Senior College Network

Announces....Coming this June

The first Maine Senior College statewide course to be delivered over the University's ITV network

Course Title: Hope and Despair

Course Instructor: Rabbi Harry Sky

Description: This course will analyze, discuss and consider the two basic human feelings of hope and despair. The study will combine Biblical and Jungian psychological vantage points, using the following texts:

1. The biblical Book of Job
2. Psalms 1-40
3. Answer to Job by Carl Jung

Dates: June 3, 5, 6 and 10, 12, 13 (Tues, Thurs, Fri)

Time and structure: Harry will teach LIVE via ITV from 8:15 a.m.- 9:15 a.m.
(room opens at 8:00 a.m.)

About the Instructor: Harry Sky, serves as a Senior Consultant to the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) and the Maine Senior College Network, where he provides advice and counsel to the Senior College initiative in the state. Sky was instrumental in the founding of the Senior College movement in Maine and was the Rabbi of Portland's Temple Beth El for 30 years before his retirement in 1989. He later returned to Beth El and retired again in 1995. In addition, each participating Senior College will also have a local group discussion for up to an hour on-site following the TV time. The discussion will be led by a local facilitator from themes suggested as they occur from Harry's lectures. There will be lots to talk about!

Delivery Method: The course will be offered by the University of Maine ITV System located at the University College Locations and Centers across the state. Note: the Bridgton and Western Mountains Senior Colleges do not have access to the University ITV system at their locations, all of the rest of the Sr. Colleges do have access. Members of Bridgton and Western Mountains may travel to nearby ITV sites.

Cost: $25.00

For More Information and Registration: Contact your local Maine Senior College.

Books: The Jung book will be available through your local Senior College.
