Night Sky Mythology

Thursday evenings

Three Weeks

February 21, 28 and March 6, 2008

6:00 – 7:30 p.m.

$50 enrollment (non members)

$35 (members)

Discover the night sky of lore. This is the celestial tapestry of ancient drama, intrigue, magic and mayhem. Plots hatch here...lovers nestle there, after all, Zeus must have his due...and Hera must have her revenge. There is always something new in this class, even if you've been here before.

Enroll in the Southworth Planetarium's Night Sky Mythology.

We sit in the star dome theatre 1.5 hours a week for three weeks and we learn the stories of the night sky: Greco-Roman, Egyptian, Sumerian, Native American and even a bit of Inuit...just because it is winter.

A different season each week...and more than 50 constellations altogether.
